EDMONTON BULLETIN, MARCH 23rd, 1909.

REASON NOTES.

OTTAWA, March 16, '99.

Parliament was opened in due form to-day by the new governor-general, Lord Minto. The military and millinery displays were both quite up to, if not slightly above the usual standard. Although past the middle of March, and although members from Vancouver Island report flowers in bloom before they left home, and those from southwestern Ontario report green grass in sight, Ottawa lay under a foot of snow, most of which fell during the preceding day, which was stormy, and full of sleet, although not cold. No effort had been spared to clear the streets of the city and the walks around the parliament buildings in time for to-day's business and ceremonies, and the work was well done. The day was bright and clear and moderately sharp. The river and its islands, the farmsteads, and the buildings of the city and its suburbs lying under a depth of fine, white snow, which in the dim distance showed through a bluish tinge, made up a most lovely picture. But there was a chill in the air which when met with the universal stiff hat and cloth overcoat open at the neck, predisposes to pneumonia much more than the stinging cold of midwinter in the Northwest. The superstition that the weather of winter is "cold, but you don't feel it" once prevailed so universally in the Northwest seems to have taken firm hold here in the east. There is apparently an almost universal conspiracy to ignore the winter and prove that Canada is not "Our lady of the snows"—even here where snow is so much in evidence during such a large part of the year—to the great unnecessary discomfort of the majority of the male population. The man who made seal skin jackets, the height of fashion for ladies wear in winter, builded better than he knew as far as Canada is concerned. Crowds filled the paved space in front of the parliament buildings to see the soldiers in line, to hear the band play and to see the mounted guard of honor, and the state sleigh bearing His Excellency sweep through the gates at the gallop and bring up sharply under the entrance tower of the parliament building, while the cannons boomed a royal salute and the band played God Save the Queen. The senate chamber was crowded, both on the floor and in the galleries to hear the speech from the throne read, and when the commons re-assembled in their own chamber the galleries were filled there also. Interest in the ceremony of the opening of parliament does not seem to lessen as time goes on if the attendance is an indication of the public interest taken. Possibly, however, the advent of a new governor-general may have been a considerable part of the attraction. The speech was read by His Excellency in English and French.

The only new legislation directly foreshadowed is "a better arrangement of the electoral districts" in other words the repeal of the famous jerry-mander act of former years.

The only allusion to the plebiscite is the statement that the official figures of the vote will be placed before the house.

The value of the Yukon is declared to be established; the returns have met the expenditure; and a telegraph line is to be built—points to and from not mentioned, but generally supposed to be from Skagway to Dawson, to be built as a government work.

Imperial penny postage, and Canadian two cent postage are alluded to. The general acceptance of the first is held to be "further proof of the general desire existing among our people for close relations with the mother country and the rest of the Empire." Regarding the latter it is said: "Although such reduction involves a temporary loss of revenue, it is never the less confidently expected that the cheapened rate will prove of such service in the promotion of trade and in the general interchange of correspondence that within a reasonable time the revenue of the post office department will be restored to its former figure."

The mention of the treaty commission states as the point of dispute the boundary between Canada and Alaska. The question has been referred to the respective governments and the commission meets again on August 2nd.

Allusion is made to the expansion of trade and commerce, the flourishing condition of the public revenues, the increase of immigration and the almost total cessation of the considerable exodus of our population which at one time was a regrettable feature of our affairs.

The following new members of the commons were introduced:

R. Holmes, West Huron, successor to M. C. Cameron, deceased, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. W. Paterson.

P. R. Martineau, Montmagny, successor to P. Choquette, now judge, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. J. I. Tarte.

T. G. Johnson, West Lambton, successor to Jas. Lister, now judge, by Hon. Mr. Mulock and John Fraser.

Laighton McCarthy, North Simcoe, successor to Dalton McCarthy, deceased, by W. Stubbs and Jas. Douglas.

J. H. Bell, East Prince, P. E. I., successor to J. Yes, now senator, by Sir Louis Davies and B. D. McLellan.

J. E. Morell, Bagot, successor to Dupont, deceased, by Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. J. I. Tarte.

All the new members took their seats on the liberal side, the constituency of Bagot is a gain from the opposition. Another gain to the government side is J. L. Bethune, of Victoria, Cape Breton, voted with the government at last session on the Yukon bill and now has changed his seat to the government side of the house.

Seven members of the house at the opening of last session are now dead. They are: Guay, Lewis; Jameson, Winnipeg; Wood, Brockville; McCarthy, North Simcoe; Dupont, Bagot; Perry, West Prince, P. E. I.; and Cameron, West Huron.

After routine business had been transacted Sir Wilfrid Laurier moved, seconded by Sir Charles Tupper, the adjournment of the house until Monday next as a mark of respect to the late Hon. J. T. Wood, M. P. Brockville, whose funeral takes place tomorrow. Mr. Wood was a member of the late conservative government, and was highly respected by everyone. His death occurred suddenly while in Toronto, having been found dead in his room. Sir Wilfrid alluded in very feeling and appropriate terms to the life and death of Mr. Wood, of whom he spoke very highly. He also made fitting references to the loss which the house had sustained by the recent death of Dr. Guay and Mr. Jameson. Sir Charles Tupper followed in a very touching address, in the course of which he acknowledged the courtesy of the premier in acceding to his request to adjourn the house in memory of his (Sir Charles') late colleague. The desk occupied at last session by Mr. Wood was decorated by a very handsome floral wreath. The elaborate ceremonies and display of the opening, and particularly the triumph of the introduction of new members, while the memorial wreath was still lying on the desk of a late colleague—and the funeral orations which followed—brought out in striking and unusual contrast the ideas of life and death, aside from and above even the very important business of parliament.

YELLOWHEAD GOLD.

The Anaconda Standard, of the 12th, contains a letter from G. B. McLaughlin, of the Neil-Jackson-McLaughlin prospecting party, written from Swift Current, B. C., on Jan. 28th, in which McLaughlin describes at considerable length the incidents of the trip and refers briefly to their claims by saying: "To-day we held a miners' meeting and organized a mining district. Nobody ever prospected this part of the world before and we are in on the ground floor. The surface showing is from a few colors to 50 cents a pan and grows better as we go down. Our shaft is 18 feet deep."

ICE LOCOMOTIVE.

A special meeting of the town council was held on Monday evening to hear R. M. Springer's project regarding the erection of a factory for the construction of his ice locomotives, by which he hopes to overcome the difficulties of winter travel in the north.

Mr. Springer addressed the council at some length, dwelling on the mineral richness of the Mackenzie river region and depicting the advantages which would accrue to Edmonton on the opening up of the country to the north. He also exhibited a model and plans of his ice locomotives and cars.

Mr. Dunn on behalf of Mr. Springer's Co., read a proposition, the main features of which were that the town give a free site, exemption from taxation for 10 years and a bonus of $5,000 towards the erection of a factory here.

On motion of Councillors McLeod and Brown, the mayor and the councillors present were appointed a committee to look into and consider Mr. Springer's proposition and report at next regular meeting, the 28th inst.

NEW HOSPITAL.

In accordance with a public notice, a meeting of those interested in the establishment of a non-sectarian hospital in Edmonton was held in Robertson Hall on Tuesday evening. About 100 people were present, including a number of ladies.

H. C. Taylor was appointed chairman and K. W. MacKenzie secretary of the meeting.

Rev. H. A. Gray explained the objects of the meeting and outlined the work that had been done towards selecting a suitable site for the proposed hospital, and estimated the probable cost of such an undertaking. The offer of the Cameron residence property in the east end for $5,000 was read.

The secretary then read a statement by the doctors composing the late medical board of the hospital here, in which was set out at some length the cause of their disagreement with the hospital authorities and their reasons for considering it necessary that another hospital be established. They estimated that the cost of alterations to the Cameron house before it would be suitable for a hospital would be $1,000. This with another $1,000 for furnishings and the cash payment of $500 would be the principal expenses to be incurred at the commencement.

The meeting was then thrown open for discussion and the opinions of those present were received. Messrs. John A. McDougall, W. J. Walker, Jas. McDonald, Thos. Bellamy and A. E. Potter spoke in favor of the project. In reply to an inquiry from Mr. Walker Dr. McInnis stated that the government paid 10c per day for all private patients and 50c a day for all pauper patients in hospitals.

Rev. C. B. Freeman wished to know the amount of subscriptions the committee would consider necessary to start with. In reply the chairman stated that if they could get enough to make the necessary alterations and the down payment and a sum, which at present was indefinite, necessary to run the institution for a year, in all about $3,000, they would be justified in going ahead.

On motion of Rev. C. B. Freeman, seconded by A. E. Potter the following resolution was put and unanimously carried: "That in the opinion of this meeting it is advisable that the establishment of a hospital such as suggested in the statement of the medical board be proceeded with at once."

On motion of A. Taylor seconded by Dr. Wilson the matter was referred back to the committee which had presented the report read at the meeting. They to be a board of provisional directors to solicit subscriptions and to apply at once for letters of incorporation. Four names were added to the committee leaving it composed of: A. Taylor, R. J. Manson, H. C. Taylor, W. S. Edmiston, Thos. Bellamy, J. A. McDougall, Jas. McDonald, W. J. Walker, and Dr. McInnis.

In reply to enquiries, Dr. McInnis gave the following information as to the cost of maintaining hospitals: In the Medicine Hat hospital last year, they had an average of 45 patients per day, and the cost, including everything, was 88c per day per patient. In that 88c there was also included some $500 worth of permanent improvements to the building. In 1898 they furnished some improvements for a maternity wing and the whole thing that year cost them $20. The Winnipeg hospital this year furnished a wing at the cost of some $35,000 making their yearly expense much higher than usual. The previous year it cost between 71c and 72c per day per patient. The Dominion government pays 75c per day for all immigrant patients, outside of the Territorial grant. After Dr. McInnis' explanation the meeting adjourned.

TETE JAUNE MICA.

The nature and extent of the mica deposits in the Tete Jaune Cache are very clearly dealt with by John M. Smith, one of the discoverers of the mineral there, in an article written for the Kamloops Mining Record. Mr. Smith, who has brought out several pack train loads of the mica, says:

"Mica differs from other minerals in this respect, the size and quality alone being the standard of value. These essentials are found in the production of the veins met with in the range of mountains in the Tete Jaune Cache section. In this range of mountains the mica crystals are found in regular well-defined leads, with a strike from southeast to northwest, dipping to the west. In these veins, which are known as pegmatite veins, the mica blocks, generally wedge shaped, are set in the quartz in every conceivable manner, and therefore a great deal of care is necessary in mining out the blocks of crystal to prevent their being damaged. I found in this range of mountains a number of veins carrying mica, but they do not all, by any means show the necessary encouragement; yet more than one has proved to contain crystals sufficiently large to command a value remunerative to the outlay necessary for mining and placing it on the market. These veins show a thickness of from 40 feet to 80 feet, and are traceable on the surface for a considerable distance. The one on which I have caused the most work to be done produces crystals of extraordinary size and quality. Blocks of crystal have been obtained from this vein averaging in weight from 25 lbs. to 360 lbs., 12 in. thick at the butt end, giving a surface face in the rough averaging from 4 in. by 6 in. to 22 in. by 34 in., and have squared clear, merchantable crystals from 2 in. by 3 in. to 20 in. by 30 in. These crystals have been tested in both the electrical works in Seattle, Washington and Montreal, Canada, against the India mica and the best mica produced in the United States, with the results that the Tete Jaune Cache mica stands a very much higher percentage of electrical volts than any mica now on the market of the world to-day. This mica is what is known as the 'Muscovite,' or white mica. It is transparent, tough and flexible, and the area of its occurrence is extensive, it having been traced for a number of miles. Good quality and large size fetches a fancy price; therefore, from my knowledge of the extent of this mineral in British Columbia, coupled with the size, quality and ever increasing demand, I have every reason to believe that, with a little improvement in the existing means of communication, that the product of that section will give employment to a large body of men for a great many years to come, and form one of the most important mining industries of this province."
